$14,600 in Agricultural Scholarships Offered

Chicago, Ill. – "The challenge to graduates in agriculture . . . is exciting. Their future is bright," says Roy M. Kottman, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Ohio State University.

In the latest edition of the "Going to College Handbook," the Ohio State dean forecasts that nearly 900,000 professional people will be employed in agriculture and natural resources by 1980, compared with just under 600,000 in 1970.

4-H'ers–present and former–who are planning careers in agriculture, the associated biological sciences, or forestry may qualify for college scholarships in programs supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service with awards arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

This year, six donor corporations and foundations will provide 15 grants totaling $14,600 to young men and women who are headed for the agricultural professions. Scholarship donors are: Homelite, A Division of Textron, Inc.; DeKalb AgResearch, Inc.; Allied Mills, Inc.; Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division; Recipe Division, Champion Valley Farms, Inc.; and Alpha Gamma Rho Educational Foundation.

Homelite will award four scholarships of $1,000 each to present or former 4-H members who are college sophomores planning to major or minor in forestry.

Four $700 scholarships will be offered by DeKalb AgResearch, Inc. to young men or women who are college juniors maioring in some area of agribusiness.

Two current or former 4-H'ers will be eligible for scholarships of $800 each awarded by Allied Mills, Inc. Candidates must be college juniors enrolled in animal science.

Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division, will award two $800 scholarships to current or former 4-H members who are college freshmen or sophomores and who intend to major or minor in the plant or biological sciences.

Two former 4-H'ers enrolled in colleges of veterinary medicine will receive scholarships of $800 each from Recipe Division, Champion Valley Farms, Inc.

One current 4-H youth is eligible for a scholarship of $600 to be awarded by the Alpha Gamma Rho Educational Foundation. The grant must be applied toward a full-term course at a college of agriculture.

Scholarship winners will be selected by the Cooperative Extension Service and announced at the 54th National 4-H Congress, to be held Nov. 30-Dec. 4 in Chicago. 4-H'ers and former 4-H'ers who are interested in applying for scholarship grants should contact their state 4-H leaders or county extension agents for special application forms.

Of Interest To Veterans

Q – I received treatment for a service connected injury at a Veterans Administration hospital about two years ago, but I need treatment again. Will VA give it to me?

A – Yes, and if as you indicated, you have already established service-connection, all you need do is apply for treatment again.

Q – I know World War II veterans who never used their GI home loan benefits are still eligible, but are they also eligible for school benefits?

A – The Veterans Administration can provide education benefits only for eligible veterans discharged after January 31, 1955. Under a recent law, education benefits expire 10 years after date of discharge or May 31, 1976, whichever is later.

Q – The national cemetery in my state has been closed because of lack of space. Will the Veterans Administration pay an additional allowance for veterans buried in private cemeteries?

A – Yes. VA can provide a $150 plot allowance in addition to the maximum $250 burial benefit, when a veteran is buried outside a national cemetery.

Q – I just received an honorable discharge after two years of military duty. I hear the Veterans Administration provides free GI Bill benefits for veterans like me who didn't finish high school. Is that true?

A – Yes, and the assistance won't be charged against your basic entitlement. Suggest you apply to the VA regional office in your state.

Q – What are some of the advantages of GI home loans? I had three years of military service before my discharge two years ago, and I am thinking of applying for this benefit from the Veterans Administration.

A – Because VA guarantees 60 per cent of loans – up to $17,500, whichever is less – downpayments are either small or not required, and there usually is a long repayment period with no penalty for early repayment. Also, VA appraises the house before purchase to determine its reasonable value.

Q – I've been out of military service six months, but can't find a job. What suggestions does the Veterans Administration have?

A – Visit your local employment service office and take your DD Form 214 with you. If a job is not available, you will be allowed to apply for unemployment compensation. You also should check your regional VA office and U. S. Veterans Assistance Center if you are close to them.

This applies to veterans and in-service students pursuing an undergraduate degree at an institution of higher learning under Chapter 34. To qualify, four conditions must exist:

1. There must have been original entitlement to 36 months (unless affected by training under a prior law in the 48-month aggregate limitation rule); 2. He or she must have been enrolled in an IHL undergraduate degree program at the time original entitlement was exhausted; 3. No change of program or course will be permitted during the nine-month extension; 4. He or she must not have completed the requirements for a bachelor's degree. On new enrollments or re-enrollments, VA is now routinely extending entitlement whenever it becomes a factor.

Effective Dates – With exception of the new rates which are effective 9-1-74, and the education loan provision (detailed information not available at press time) effective 1-1-75, all other provisions are effective 12-3-74, date the new law was enacted.

Receives Council's Award of Merit

The National Safety Council announced recently that the Southside Electric Cooperative, located at Crewe, Va. has been presented the Council's award of merit for its excellent safety record.

The award is presented only where an establishment's record satisfied rigid requirements laid down in the Council's award plan for recognizing good industrial safety records.

Vincent Tofany, President of the National Safety Council, in a letter of congratulations to I. E. Pridgen, Safety Director and Inspector for Southside Electric Cooperative, explained that the Cooperative qualified for the award because of its injury-free period of 1,291,551 man-hours from July 7, 1968 to December 31, 1974.

The Council evaluated 274 electric utilities in the United States and Southside Electric Cooperative was one out of 22 to receive this award.

Longwood Students Write "Harvest" Essays

Farmville, Va., April 16, 1975 – "Harvest," a collection of critical essays written by students at Longwood College, has been published for the first time by the college's department of English and philosophy.

The essays were written by students at all levels, freshman to graduate. They deal with a variety of literary forms, including the myth, Shakespearean drama, short story, novel, and even cinema. Authors whose works are discussed include Henry David Thoreau, Thomas Hardy, Frank O'Connor, Theodore Dreiser, D. H. Lawrence, William Faulkner, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Henry James, Edith Wharton, and F. Scott Fitzgerald, as well as Shakespeare.

All of the professors in the English department were invited to submit student essays for consideration. The editors of the publication were Bette McKinney, Massie Stinson, Jr. and Jerry Brown, all members of the English faculty.

In their preface, the editors describe the 15 essays as "sound, provoking, and often beautiful in their expressions. In addition to conveying insights into works of literature, they defend the formal essay and justify our labors with it."

Copies of "Harvest" have been distributed to English majors and faculty, all contributors, members of the college's board of visitors, and have been put on reserve in the college library.

One of the contributors to "Harvest" was Pettis Bowling, Appomattox; daughters fo Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bowling.

The English department hopes to make this an annual publication and to include essays on poetry and philosophy in future editions. Copies of "Harvest" may be obtained by writing one of the editors or Dr. William Frank, department of English, Longwood College.

Retired Teachers Meet

On Thursday, May 1, at 12:30 p.m. the Appomattox Chapter of Retired Teachers met at the Parkway Restaurant for a luncheon and a subsequent program. There were thirty teachers present as well as several guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ghioto of the Appomattox Historical Park Area, Mrs. Thelma Spencer, President of District F and Mrs. Agnes Rowbatham, both of Lynchburg, and Mrs. J. E. Anderson of Richmond.

After the luncheon Mrs. Mildred O'Brien Alvis, president, called the meeting to order and after preliminaries introduced the speaker, Mr. Paul Ghioto, Historian of Appomattox Historical Park. He gave a most interesting, entertaining, and informative talk on the history of Appomattox County, present, past and future. He treated the subject under two heads: Heritage, Festival, and Horizons. He declared that Appomattox County has quite a heritage, mentioning a number of families who have contributed so much to the history of Appomattox. He referred often to the book, History of Appomattox, written by Mr. N. R. Featherston quite a few years ago. He also called attention to the fact that the Appomattox and Buckingham Times (as the paper was called then) carried in an 1895 issue and article called the History of Surrender. He added that at one time soon after this article appeared that there was a request made that the name of the town Nebraska, (as Appomattox was known at that time) be changed to Surrender. He had unearthed so many interesting facts that all of us in Appomattox should have known - but alas, we did not!

Mr. Ghioto spoke also of the Appomattox of the present day and contrasted the county of today with the county of yesterday. He discussed the present plans for Bicentennial Celebration which has already begun in New England. He is Chairman of the Bicentennial Commission of our county and feels that Appomattox should play quite a part in this celebration. He feels that Appomattox had a great present and an even greater future. As for this future, the speaker could see wide horizons of growth, progress, and development in many fields. The town and county are expanding in many ways, both in business and home building. Only time will tell what the future of Appomattox will be high.

Following Mr. Ghioto's address, a business meeting was conducted. Routine business was transacted, after which the following officers for the new year beginning July 1, 1975 were elected: President, Mr. Walter J. Payne; Vice-President, Mrs. Ora W. Smith; Secretary, Mrs. Florence Trent; Treasurer, Mrs. Iva Covington; and Historian, Miss Nola Burkey.

Following installation of officers the meeting was adjourned.
